

Behind the scenes...

The practice takes great pride in its high clinical standards. It has a written infection control policy and every member of the practice team is provided with a strict protocol to follow with on-going and monitored training of all staff joining the practice, even if they have worked in other dental practices before.

Gloves are changed between each and every patient

Gloves are changed between each and every patient. The practice uses sterilisation techniques in line with the most rigorous guidelines produced by the British Dental Association.

Our surgeries are cleaned thoroughly between each patient whether the appointment was for an examination, or whether it was for an operative procedure.

Only distilled water is used in our sterilisers. This is also used, with a special additive, in the mouth.

The sterilising cycles of our autoclaves are monitored and logged to ensure that each cycle has been successfully completed.

Our staff have ongoing and professional development and education particularly in the dedicated areas of pain and anxiety control for which the practice has a reputation. Certified courses attended include theoretical and practical courses on Conscious Sedation.

Our team is trained for any complications that may occur in the dental surgery include Basic Life Support and Advanced Life Support.

All members of the dental team are friendly and approachable.

They are trained to have empathy with patients who are anxious and frightened and work hard to ensure that every visit to us is as stress free as possible.
